Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 29 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Becoming cloudy with some rain, but perhaps brightening up later.

Today:
Soon becoming generally cloudy and breezy, as spells of rain and showers making gradual progress eastwards. Perhaps becoming more generally dry, bright and less windy later on, with some late sunny spells possible. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Mainly fine during the evening and overnight, with a small chance of the odd shower. Becoming cloudier in western parts to end the night, with a strengthening breeze generally. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Saturday:
Soon becoming cloudy, breezy and wet, as a band of rain spreads eastwards. This may turn heavy briefly before clearing eastwards later on, allowing some limited late sunny spells. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Successive bouts of wet and windy weather making progress eastwards leading to temperatures below average. Some sunny spells are also likely, these perhaps most widespread on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.